Golf Tip of the Month

Tip of the month: In order to hit an accurate flop shot, slide the clubface under the ball, and have the clubhead pass the shaft at impact. "It's important to set the clubface open at address (pointing right of the target), which adds more loft, and then grip the club — in that order. You can even weaken your grip, your hands rotated toward the target; that will soften the shot even more. But the key is to open the clubface before you take your grip."

Tennis Tip: Mentally Tough

by Brian Clary, Director of Recreation/Tennis Elite Tennis Professional

As tennis players, we are conditioned to feel the battle of performance with every point. However, even through battling for every point, we can't possibly win them all. The key to being a better competitor is to work on being mentally tough by accepting losing points. The goal should be to try your best not to lose two in a row. By winning every other point it is terribly difficult to lose a game unless you're playing with "no-add" scoring. All you need to do is win
